The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner, will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House. I introduced a bill into the House which was known as House Bill No. 1370 and which was referred to the Committee on Public Health and Sanitation and was reported out this morning. There have been a number of members of the House who have received communications from constituents asking that amendments be inserted in the bill. I told them all I would take it up with them as the bill came before the House. This morning I find that under the present law these people are amply protected. In view of the statements I made to these gentlemen I would like them to see me and I will give to them the present law which they can call to the attention of their constituents.

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the gentleman from Delaware under the question of personal privilege will be spread upon the record.

The SPEAKER. If there is no objection the Chair will declare a recess until 3:00 o'clock P. M. Is there objection? The Chair hears none, and a recess is declared until 3:00 o'clock P. M.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY THE SPEAKER,

The SPEAKER. The Chair wants to give notice to the House that there are still other bills on the files. If you will take up your calendars he will give you the file folio numbers of the bills we have. On the bottom of page 30, House Bill No. 292, file folio 5533; on page 31, House Bill No. 1193, file folio 5535; House Bill No. 1336, file folio 5539; House Bill No. 985 file folio 1543; House Bill No. 512, file folio House Bill No. 1122, file folio 5621.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE.

Mr. PERRY. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Perry, will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. PERRY. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I think if there had been a statement made about the bill that was just defeated, I don't think that that bill would have gone down to defeat. I along with some other members here, introduced some salary raisers which passed the House and the Senate and went up to the Governor for his approval or disapproval, and the budget of the various cities and Counties were made up by the various mayors and Councils of those cities but the Governor having requests from the Councils and Mayors could not see his way clear to sign any of those salary raisers, and he thought the best thing he could do would be to have a bill prepared creating a commission, composed of two members of this House two members of the Senate and one man appointed by himself to constitute that commission and to report back to the 1929 session of the Legislature recommending the various increases that this commission believes should be given to those clerks and employes. I think the members of the House erred in voting that commission down. If we come back here without a commission of that kind created, we will be confronted as we are at the present time, with the budgets of the various counties and cities made up and the requests for an increase for the twelve hundred to fifteen hundred dollar clerks, which would be refused the same as at the present time. So I think if that statement had been made on Miss Grimes' bill that that is all that bill takes care of, to recommend back to the 1929 Legislature what salaries shall be paid those clerks in the boroughs, counties and cities, the vote would have been different.

Mr. MARCUS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, believing as the gentleman from Philadelphia does that there was a possibility of this bill being misunderstood, from the information that I have just recently gathered, it is a bill for which the Governor has expressed his approbation. The purpose of the bill has already been explained to you. It is merely to provide a commission to study the existing conditions relating to salaries that have been passed and possibly to enlighten the chief Executive in the next two years of conditions that might justify this commission being appointed. Believing that there might have been a misunderstanding, I therefore move, Mr. Speaker, that the House—

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Allegheny is advised that he cannot make a motion to reconsider, if that is his purpose, until some other business has intervened

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE.

Mr. HEFFRAN. Mr. Speaker I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER, The gentleman from Washington, Mr. Heffran, will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. HEFFRAN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, This morning I asked that this bill be laid over temporarily on account of the absence of the sponsor. The purpose was to get information about the bill . I had in mind when the Code was passed that it created an executive board which had the power to fix salaries for state employes and I thought possibly that this was a duplication of that work. Since that time I have talked to the sponsor and have a better understanding of the purposes of the bill, and have no objection to its being passed, and I think it should be passed. Possibly some of the members were influenced this morning because I asked to have it placed on the postponed calendar, but now I think the bill should be passed.

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the gentleman under the question of personal privilege will be spread upon the Journal.

BILL POSTPONED.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I move that House Bill No. 292, file folio 5533, on page 30 of today's calendar, Bills on third reading, entitled:

An Act regulating the introduction of reputation and character testimony in criminal actions under certain circumstances be placed on the pontsponed calendar.

Mr. SAUTTER. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1193,, as follows:

An Act to provide for the publication of the Superior Court reports from Volume one to sixty inclusive

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That the Secretary of State shall within fifteen (15) months after this act goes into effect cause to be printed on first class thin paper and bound in good buckram the Superior Court reports of Pennsylvania from Volume one to Volume sixty inclusive exclusive of the indexes thereto four volumes shall be bound in one book and the original paging shall be retained and there shall be printed on the back of each volume "Superior Court Reports" the number of the volume or volumes in the series with the year when originally published

Section 2 The same shall be published under the supervision of the Secretary of State by contract to be entered into by the Secretary of the Commonwealth with a person or persons who in addition to furnishing the State Librarian for library and exchange two hundred (200) copies of each volume shall agree to publish and sell the said reports on terms the most advantageous to the public and at the lowest price which contract shall be for a term of twenty (20) years and shall provide that every volume printed under such contract shall be kept by the contractor at some convenient place within this Commonwealth to be designated by the said Secretary of the Commonwealth for sale at the contract price to all citizens of the Commonwealth desiring the same during the said twenty (20) years period

Section 3 Before letting any contract as provided by this act the Secretary of the Commonwealth shall give notice of the time and place of awarding the contract by advertisement in a newspaper having the greatest circulation in each of the cities of Philadelphia and Pittsburgh once a week for six consecutive weeks immediately preceding the letting of such contract and shall receive sealed proposals or bids and shall award the contract to the lowest bidder who can give security required by this act

Section 4 The person to whom any contract shall be awarded under this act shall at the time of executing said contract give bond to the Commonwealth with at least three sureties to be approved by the Governor in the sum of thirty thousand ($30,000) dollars conditioned for the faithful performance of said contract

Section 5 The Secretary of State shall deliver to the printer or contractor the stereotyped plates thereof in his possession and the contractor may use the same and after using same shall return them to the Secretary of the Commonwealth they being the property of the State

Section 6 To carry this act into full force and effect there is hereby appropriated the sum of five hundred ($500) dollars

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the bill which has just been called provides for the publication of the Superior Court reports from volume 1 to volume 60 inclusive. It provides that the Secretary of State shall, within fifteen months after this act goes into effect, cause to be printed on first class thin paper and bound in good buckram, the Supreme Court Reports of Pennsylvania from volume 1 to volume 60, inclusive, exclusive of the indexes thereto. Four volumes shall be bound in one book and the original paging shall be retained and there shall be printed on the back of each volume: "Superior Court Reports." As I understand from the department, there are at the present time in print a great number of these reports, I do not see the necessity, as a member of the Bar, of having these reports printed by the State. The lawyers can get access to these reports and can purchase them at any time they want to at a fair price. Why it is necessary for the State at the present time to print these reports, I do not know. As I said before, they are now in print and on sale and can be properly purchased. On the other hand this provides in another place that two hundred copies of each volume shall be published for exchange with the other States. When this publication was first made there were fifty extra copies printed under the contract. The contractor who made that contract, contracted to print fifty extra copies, and the fifty extra copies were printed. I can see no reason, so far as the exchange between the States is concerned, why it is necessary to have 200 copies when we only have 48 States with which to exchange. It seems to me this is—I won't say what it is—but with two hundred copies printed for some purpose, especially for exchange, it doesn't seem the proper thing to ask the State at least to pay for and I ask you to consider this bill well before you vote aye for it.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker and membebrs of the House, my good friend Mr. Alexander of Delaware County is again wrong on the law just like he was yesterday. In the first place this bill does not provide for the State to print these books. So you will know what we are voting on, it will be necessary for me to give you a little explanation. First, I want to answer the insinuation of my friend, the gentleman from Delaware, by saying I have two sets of these books and don't need another one, but I am thinking of the young lawyer who is going out and starting to practice tomorrow and he ought not be gouged by the enormous price they are now charging. The plates belong to the Commonwealth, the copyright belongs to the Commonwealth, the editors of the books were paid a salary by the Commonwealth and all of the work was paid for by the Commonwealth. A contract was let to a book publisher to publish these books, and he agreed to publish them and sell them to members of the Bar, or any other persons that wanted to buy them, at ninety-eight cents a piece. Since the contract expired he has jumped the price to three dollars, and if you were to buy a book today you must pay three dollars for it. When the contract expired he returned to the Secretary of State all of the plates and all of the matter, and now for the printed copies that he has, maybe a thousand or so, he wants the lawyer starting out in practice to pay him three dollars for what he contracted with the people of Pennsylvania to sell for ninety-eight cents. They were not even satisfied with that, they contracted to sell these books at ninety-eight cents. If the lawyer went to the office for a book it cost him ninety-eight cents, but if he phoned in a message to send a book they charged him one dollar and seventy-five cents, and they justified the extra charge by saying it was for the delivery of the book. For the printing of the Supreme Court

Reports from 1 to 59, that contract has expired, and to 60 it expires in a short time, so the bill reads fifteen months so as to cover the entire 60. Today a lawyer's office cost rent money,and plenty of it. The idea back of this bill is to republish these books, not at the expense of the state of Pennsylvania, but to let a contract to a printer or a publisher who will agree to publish these books on these terms at the cheapest price. The bill provides for a $500 appropriation for advertising to let all of the publishers bid and the one who would bid to sell the books to the public the cheapest is to have the contract. My good friend Mr. Alexander, is absolutely in error when he says the books are to be published by Pennsylvania—they are not. The plates belong to Pennsylvania, and they will deliver them to a printer who will print the book the cheapest for the public and not continue this gouging from ninety-eight cents that they sold them for to $3.00. I ask you ladies and gentlemen of the House to discontinue this mean practice.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sowers, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I desire to ask the gentleman from Philadelphia if it is not correct that this bill provides that these books shall be printed without the index.

Mr. SOWERS. The bill provides that the indexes shall not be printed. You that are practicing lawyers know that the index of the state reports is seldom used, that you use what is called a digest, and to republish the useless index is a worthless expenditure of money and will make the cost of these boks to the young lawyer too high.

Mr. ALEXANDER. In other words, the cost of printing the index is the reason for the books costing more than you think they ought to.

Mr. SOWERS. You are in error. The indexes are an index to a law book that no practicing lawyer uses. When he wants to find his cases or his authority to make up his brief he goes to the Pepper & Lewis Digest for his cases, or some similar digest. In order to make it cheaper to the practicing lawyer of Pennsylvania, why print something that none of them ever use or need. The books were printed before with the index in them for ninety-eight cents, but when the contract ran out, they jumped the price to three dollars without the index and they sold it before for ninety-eight cents with the index.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Let me ask you: Don't you and most every other good lawyer——

Mr. SOWERS. Did I understand the gentleman from Delaware rightly?

Mr. ALEXANDER. I hope so, take a book in which you know a case is and look at the index to find the page of it without referring or going to look at the digest and perhaps you cannot find it in the digest. Is that not often done?

Mr. SOWERS. I can't tell how you practice law, but I know how I do. I say to my assistant, "Find that for me."

Mr. ALEXANDER. I have often heard but I never before heard it, admitted, however, that the principal lawyer in the office was the assistant. That is the first time I ever heard a lawyer admit it. It is true, however, that good lawyers know very often where a case is to be found, that is, that it is in, say 272 Pa. or 58 Pa. We will take the case of Commonwealth vs. Drum. Now any lawyer that knows anything at all or that has ever practiced law or been in court knows that Commonwealth vs. Drum is in 58 Pa. and he does not have to go down in his digest and go through a long list of indexes to find it. All he has to do is take 58 Pa. and look for Commonwealth vs. Drum. Of course if you have an assistant to depend upon to look up your law for you, and you never do it, you are all right. It is not everybody that depends on their assistant.

Mr. SOWERS. To show you how useless my friend's argument is I want to tell him that that case is on page 1 of that volume and we don't need any index.

Mr. PEELOR. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I am glad to know that we are about to proceed with the vote. If these two gentlemen had continued very long, the one from Philadelphia and the other from Delaware, they would have lost all the secrets the profession had.

On the question, recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

Whereas, news has just reached this Legislature of the occurrence of a mine explosion this morning at Ehrenfeld, Cambria County, which has wrecked the mine of the Pennsylvania Coal and Coke Mine Company, and

Whereas, the reports coming from the scene of the disaster are to the effect that two hundred and fifty lives have been lost and more than three hundred and fifty men are still entombed within the working of the said mine and

Whereas, this great loss of life means sorrow and grief indescribable to the many who survive them and the fate of those entrapped within the mine entails the anxiety and heartbreaking concern of those who are anxiously awaiting their release, and

Whereas, a catastrophe of such magnitude affects not only the feelings and sympathy of every citizen but brings them very close to the suffering and distress of those primarily affected, therefore, be it

Whereas, the reports coming from the scene of the disaster are to the effect that two hundred and fifty lives have been lost and more than three hundred and fifty men are still entombed within the workings of the said mine and

Resolved, That the membership of this Legislature extends to the survivors of those whose lives have been taken its deepest sympathy and to those who are waiting the outcome of the attempt to rescue those still entombed, we extend the hope that the lives of those they love may be spared.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for its concurrence.
